

Cancellation Policy

Life can get in the way of what we want and plan to do and I completely understand if plans have to change. But when you book an appointment I reserve that time especially for you. So when you cancel last minute or forget to turn up for your appointment, this has stopped me helping someone else who could have taken that appointment and has a detrimental affect on the business.

If you do need to cancel due to unforeseen circumstances, please let me know *at least 24 hours beforehand, otherwise a cost will be incurred. If you or family members fall ill on the day of your appointment, please let me know as soon as is possible, even by text or outside normal working hours (0750 882 4449).

Thank you for your co-operation and continued support in helping me run the business I love, helping others to find time to heal themselves.
